WILL CONSIDER JAPANESE ISSUE

Question of Alien Land Ownership Again Before Diplomats.

WILL URGE ACTION

Majority of Members Elected to California Legislature Are of Anti-Japanese Priniciples.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The whole Japanese land ownership qucstion has been projected into the diplomatic situation in Washington by the elections in California and Washington.

Were it not for the present war, it was stated by a high diplomatic source close to the Japanese embassy today, Japan would in all likelihood urge immediate action by the Federal Government, which would settle finally the Pacific coast question.

In the California elections, a majority of members chosen for the legislature are said to be anti-Japanese, and, therefore, it is said, it is extremely likely that an amendment to the alien land law will be passed which will even prohibit the leasing of land by an alien.

In Washington State an overwhelming majority defeated the amendment to the cnstitution which would have permitted aliens to own land within city limits.

What the Japanese will insist on, when this question is put up to the State Department, as it surely will be, according to the belief of one in the confidence of the Japanese embassy is that Japanese either be given the right to become American citizens or else that the flow of immigration into this country be checked by closing the door to immigrants of other nationalities as well.

Japan does not care for the individual who wishes to settle in this country, but she does object to the constant excuse furnished to her own "jingoists" by this evident discrimination against her people, according to the same authority.

Once the Japanese were permitted to become citizens of the United States under the same terms as those offered men of other nations Japan would view with indifference any discrimination which might be practiced against them. That would be absolutely and solely the problem of the newly citizenized Japanese Americans For instance this authority pointed out, the Japanese-Americans might be denied the ballot as are the colored men to a large extent in the South. But no longer would this concern Japan. They would have passed from her jurisdiction.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Commander of the Austrian forces now retreating through Galicia is said to have refused to have any further dealings with the Germans. Advices from Petrograd say that a serious break has occurred as a result of a misunderstanding between the German and Austrian commander in the Eastern Theatre of war and that Germans and Austrian officers who are prisoners of the Russians have to be kept separated because of the bitterness that has sprung up between them. It is not inconceivable that the Austrians may break definitely with the Germans and seek to conclude a separate peace pact with the Allies.

The Ameer of Afghanistan has declared his determination to declare war on Russia and Great Britain, and the Khedive of Egypt has announced his loyalty to the Sultan and his intention to accompany the Turkish Army which is marching on Egypt.

Three British warships have been sighted off Colon and are expected to pass through the Panama Canal to the Pacific searching for the German cruisers which recently sunk the British cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth off the coast.

Emperor William, accompanied by his staff, returned Friday evening to Kolmar, 40 miles southwest of Strassburg, his starting point at the commencement of the war. The emperor appeared to be anxious and taciturn. It is reported from Basel that private peace committees are being formed in southern Germany with the conivance of the authorities not start unofficially a peace propaganda.

The London Chronicle's correspondent in Copenhagen says the seventy-fifth list of Prussian casualities contains 10,500 uames, and that the last actions referred to in it were those fought in northern France between October 1 and 14. "Earlier German lists," he say, "have contained 555,000 names' but these figures do not include the losses suffered during the retreat through Poland or those which followed the last month of hard fighting in Belgium."

Edmund J. Miller, assistant cashier in the Clearspring Bank, at Hagerstown, Md., committed suicide sometime Saturday night or early yesterday morning by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. Mr. Miller had an attack of diabetes, which brought on nervous trouble, and he had returned on Thursday from taking treatment at the Phipps Institute, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, but was unimproved.

The Italian council of ministers has approved the new military credits for $80,000,000. Thus Italy's neutral does not signify more pacificism, but a systematic preparation for intervention when Italian interests are attacked.

The people of Great Britain were greatly shocked by the news that Field Marshal Earl Roberts had succumbed Saturday night to a swift attack of penumonia while on the front in France, whither he had journeyed to see once more the Indian troops, of whom he was so proud.

Cheers for speakers, jeers for the President, and murmurs of discontent and agitation were loud and insistent yesterday when negroes of Washington met at Second Baptist Church in Washington, to hear W. M. Trotter's version of his interview at the White House last week—at which he was charged with insolence—and to protest against segregation in government departments. Trotter was the principal speaker. In gesture, tone, word, and manner he aroused his audience which crowded the church, to cries against segregation and cat-calls when the President was mentioned.

Monsignor Thomas J. Shahan, president of the Catholic University, Washington, was elevated to the bishopric at the Cathedral in Baltimore yesterday morning. Cardinal Gibbons officiated, and in the sanctuary were three archbishops, many bishops, monsignori and clergymen. After the services of consecration a pontificial high mass was celebrated by Cardinal Gibbons.

GERMANS AGAIN REACH LEFT BANK

Invaders Meet Staggering Losses in Recrossing The Yser.

TERRIFIC STRUGGLE

Canal Filled With Dead Bodies—Both Armies Anticipate Epidemic From Present Conditions.

Paris, Nov. 16.—An entire German regiment was destroyed north of Bixschoote when the allied troops again, flooded the district in which the bitter fighting for the line to the coast has been in progress for the past month.

This was declared today in the official communique issued by the war office.

London, Nov. 16.—Despite "officially official reports received here today, the Germans once again have succeeded in occupying the left bank of the Yser. In a terrific struggle under fearful weather conditions, the invaders made the crossing only after staggering losses.

Paris, Nov. 16—In trenches filled with water and swept by rain and snow-driven before a gale from the sea, the allied and German armies continue their struggle for possession of the line leading to the coast cities of Dunkirk and Calais.

Heavy artillery fire has marked the fighting for the past twenty-four hours, it was stated at the war office today, weather conditions preventing successful work by infantry.

The enemy paid terrible toll for the ground they held on the left bank. It was only by constantly pouring men in massed formation through the fire of the allied guns, which mowed down hundreds that a foothold was gained.

Reports here declare the German forces about Dixmude are being constantly re-enforced. The town is a wreck, however, and the advantage of holding it is declared to be slight. The fighting has now swung away from Ypres, which has not been bombarded during the last two days. The heaviest fighting in this section has been six miles from Ypres. The battle in the wooded section south of Bixschoote and about Ypres has been terrific. A wood south of Bixschoote was taken by the Allies yesterday, but the losses in the attack were extremely heavy.

The woods north of Ypres cleared by the British are full of German dead. The fighting there was with the bayonet in hand-to-hand encounters the Germans holding their position with the greatest bravery and determination until practically all were killed or wounded.

The condition of Yser is a source of constant menace to both armies owing to the danger of an epidemic. The fighting which resulted in the driving of the Germans from the left bank has again filled the canal with bodies of men and horses. Germans who were captured declared they literally crossed upon the bridge of their own men and horses, killed in the action.

DEATH FROM VACCINATION.

Seven-Year-Old Girl of Richmond Contracts Lockjaw.

Richmond, Nov. 17.—Rather than give up her studies at Central School, little Mildred Hays Blanning, seven years old, smilingly submitted to vaccination. On Saturday her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blanning, 808 East Clay street, followed her body to its last resting place in Riverview cemetery. The child died on Friday afternoon from lockjaw, developing, the attending physician surmised, from an infection which found its way into the wound. No other injuries were on the small form.

MRS. HALL IN PRISON.

Woman Convicted of Murdering Husband Brought to Penitentiary Under Special Guard.

Richmond, Nov. 16.—While Attorney R. Lindsay Gordon was pleading long and earnestly with Governor Stuart in the executive office here Saturday afternoon for executive clemency that would relieve Mrs. Elizabth Hall of the penalty of her crime, Guard John Moore, who had been detailed to bring the murderer to the prison, was proceedingly grimly about that duty at Louisa Courthouse.

The prisoner was delivered into the penitentiary guard's custody Saturday morning by the sheriff of Louisa, and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon Moore boarded the train for Richmond with Victor Hall's slayer. Shortly before 8 o'clock Saturday night she was received at the State prison. She was led to the registry room, where her pedigree was taken, and she was turned over to another prison guard, who placed the woman in the cell assigned to her. While showing the natural distress of a woman in her plight, Mrs. Hall took the proceedings philosophically. She had nothing to say to the officer who brought her to Richmond, nor was she any the more loquacious at the prison.

The few remarks she made and her general deportment indicated that she has not despaired of regaining her liberty. She seemed even a bit hopeful.

Long before the train on which she made the journey here arrived, the argument on the petition for her pardon was concluded by Lawyer Gordon. The Governor listened patiently to the attorney's appeal in the woman's behalf. A copy of the record of the trial of Mrs. Hall was on the desk before him while Mr. Gordon spoke. Governor Stuart told the lawyer he might leave the copy with him; that he would consider the case and announce his decision later.

The Gvernor did not indicate when this decision would come, but it is not unlikely that the final answer to the last appeal in the woman's behalf will come tomorrow.

BERLIN IN DREAD

Panic-Striken Refugees From Frontier Rush Into German Capital.

London, Nov. 16—The Standard's Copenhangen correspondent wires:

"Profound dismay has been caused in Berlin by the news that the Russians have again crossed the eastern frontier and have advanced into the provinces of East Prussia and Posen The news, though not published in the newspapers, has reached Berlin through refugees from the frontier districts of the invaded provinces.

"The memory of the earlier Russian invasion of East Prussia was just beginning to fade in Berlin, and practically all the fugitives, who in those earlier days had fled to the capital had been re-established in their homes.

"Their reappearance in Berlin and other towns of the interior, in a state of greater panic than ever, has created a much greater impression than the earlier flight.

"The suppression of news by the censor merely increases the public anxiety. The prevailing depression has been augmented further by the news which has leaked through from Vienna that the return of civilians to their homes in Western Galicia around Cracow has been stopped by the Austrian Government. These fugitives rushed from Galicia to Vienna during the earlier periods of the Russian invasion. More recently during the operations in Russian Poland the authorities had been sending them home in batches. The sudden order that no more were to be allowed to return to Galicia for the present has created a very bad impression in Vienna and indirectly in Berlin."

CONFERENCES ARE NEARING AN END

Next Few Days Will, it is Said, Decide Future of Mexico.

CARRANZA WILL QUIT.

Stillman Notifies Secretary Bryan That Factions Are Nearing an Agreement Among Themselves.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 16.—General Francisco Villa, commander in chief of the military forces of the Gutierrez faction in Mexico, has consented to resign his command and leave Mexico in order that a peaceful settlement of the rpublic's internal difficulties may be effected.

Washington, Nov. 16—Whether the Mexican factions are to "get together" and agree to their own plan of government in that country or whether they will decide to fight it out to a finish, will probably be known within the next few days.

Reports reaching the State Department indicate that the series of conferences between the Carranzistas and the chiefs of the Aguas Calientes convention are reaching a close.

While there is no confirmation of the report that Carranza was served with an ultimatum to quit at once or fight, even thaugh that is true, it said here that it would in no way indicate that the situation is hopeless.

John R. Silliman, who is with General Carranza as the representative of the State Department, has sent word to Secretary Bryan that the factions are nearing an agreement. From other sources word has been received that the action of the United States in announcing the withdrawal of American troops from Vera Cruz has had a beneficial effect on the Mexican factional leaders.

It is likely that before the American troops leave Vera Cruz on November 23 the general Mexican situation will have assumed definite shape

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. y6—There is real joy among the Fifth Brigade of the United States Army at the prospects of spending Thanksgiving day on their way to home soil.

WEATHER STOPS FIGHTING.

Blizzard Spreads Over Fighting Zone in Flanders.

London, Nov. 16.—After four weeks of most desperate fighting there is a lull in the battle in Flanders. With this lull, however, has come little relief for the men in the trenches, as the artillery and rifle fire to which they have been subjected with hardly any intermission has been replaced by one of those severe storms which so often accompany November in this latitude.

In some parts of England the storm has reached the proportions of a blizzard; on the sea a heavy gale rages, and the battlefields are getting their share of wind and rain.

Heavy fogs with pouring rain cause a great deal of sickness among the soldiers in trenches. The ditches are flooded and the men are forced constantly to stand in the water.

As a result these soldiers suffer from severe colds, which frequently develop into pneumonia.

There is no place in which those who are ill can be cared for immediately, since all the villages in this vicinity have been destroyed, and the nearest hospitals, which are in Ghent and Bruges, already are overcrowded.

The exhaustion of the troops which are fighting under these conditions has caused a momentary lapse in the operations.

For the most part the opposing armies have been content to shell each other at long range, but the Germans have made several attacks around Ypres, which, according to the French General staff, have been repulsed with heavy losses. Despite these losses it is not believed that the Germans have any intention of giving up their attempt to reach the French coast, and the Allies are making elaborate preparations to block any further advance in force.

CAILLAUX MAY HAVE BEEN EXILED

Ex-French Premier and wife Now on Their Way to Brazil

FRIENDLY TO KAISER.

Recent Demonstrations in Paris When Caillaux and His Wife Appeared on the Streets.

London, Nov. 16.—According to unpermited" explanations that Joseph Caillaux, ex-premier of France, has left for Brazil to arrange for purchase of foodstuffs and clothing that formerly were obtained by France in Austria and Germany, the belief is strong in London today that more is behind the affair than appears on the surface.

Caillaux is accompanied by his wife, recently acquitted of the murder of Caston Calmette, editor of Figaro.

Throughout discussion of the departure of Callaux from France at such a crisis in his country's history are repeatedly heard mention of intimations which came out at the trial of the wife of the ex-premier.

It is remembered that statesmen of Germany's have termed Caillaux as Germany's best friend in France." Less than ten days ago the appearance of Caillaux with his wife on the streets of Paris brought forth demonstrations from the populace in which cries of "German spy" were heard.

During his wife's trial it was frequently hinted that Caillaux failed to exhibit his customary firmness in combatting German demands during the settlement of the Moroccan questions.

ABANDONED FAMILY.

Mother And Three Little Children Found in Poverty on South Washington Street.

The police were notified today that a woman and three children—aged 2, 5 and 8 years—were practically homeless and without the necessaries of life. Sergeant Scott and Officer Nicholson located them in a house on South Washington street. The house is in a bad condition, glass being out of the windows, through which the chilling northwest blasts were blowing. A handful of meal and a small piece of fish composed all they had to eat. The mother and children had no winter clothing, and the four shivered while dividing their scanty stock of eatables.

It was learned that the father of the family left Alexandria some time ago for Florida, and it is said he is now at Pensacola.

The authorities are making arrangements for placing the children in the Children's Home and mother in the alms house until her husband can be located.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Store in Pennsylvania Dynamited Early Yesterday.

Latrobe, Pa., Nov. 16—Four persons were killed and six injured, two seriously when the general store of Noah Kanaza, at Superior, near here, was blown up by dynamite early yesterday. The store and five dwellings were burned entailing a loss of $25,000. The dynamiting is believed to have been the work of men who had threatened Noah Kanaza, who is wealthy.

Kanaza's store was wrecked by two explosions, the dynamite having been placed at both ends of the structure. The building was soon aflame and the fire spread rapidly to five nearby dwellings. John Pepper and Anthony Stromberg were struck by timbers in attempting to rescue the Kanaza children and are in a Latrobe hospital Little hope of their recovery is entertained.

Windows within a radius of two miles of Superior were broken and plaster was knocked from walls five miles away.

Kanaza declares he has been threatened by an Italian with whom he had had a lawsuit. Arrests are expected.

MUCH-NEEDED SHOWERS

Easterly Winds Cause High Tides and Some Discomfit Around the River Front.

The cloudy conditions of last Saturday brought rain during the night which continued throughout most of yesterday and last night. The wind was from the northeast at first, but it subsequently veered to the southeast, and at times blew fresh. As is generally the case during the prevalence of the wind from that quarter of the compass, the tide made high, being awash with the wharves. But as such conditions are common hereabouts, people conducting business on the Strand and on Union street were prepared for such an emergency, and no serious damage resulted from the rising waters.

The wind during last night shifted to the northwest, and clearing and cooler conditions followed.

The rains have served useful purposes. A drouth has prevailed for some time in parts of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, the Susquehanna in some places having become practically dry but little rain having fallen for weeks. In some sections manufacturing plants had been closed in consequence of a lack of water, while farmers have been distressed. Beside forest fires have been causing anxiety in certain localities.

In Baltimore and other nearby cities the danger of a water famine was causing uneasiness.

FEARFUL DRAIN CAUSED BY WAR.

Notwithstanding optimistic reports of conditions in the countries now engaged in war to the effect that each nation has tons of food and amunition calculated to last several years, together with multitudes of men to take the place of those now being slaughtered, there is said to be anxiety in certain capitals. It is realized that a time is coming when the fearful drain upon the public resources will bring about conditions it will be impossible to meet. A dispatch elsewhere in the Gazette states that peace societies already exist in Germany and that these organizations are on the increase. The Emperor William is described as having an anxious appearance. He is said to have aged considerably during the past few months.

So far as can now be seen there are no indications of immediate peace, and the most enthusiastic of all the nations involved say it will be a fight unto the finish.

The New York Evening Post recently said:

"How long the German people can bear up under the psychological strain of the terrible losses they are sustaining, both on sea and on land, is one of the most interesting questions pertaining to the war. We know that multitudes of Germans in public and private have said that they will fight to the last man—but that is mere rhetoric. No nation can do that. The feeling of those who stay at home is bound to be a factor of enormous importance in deciding the length of the conflict, for they have not the relief of being at the front. At first the casualty lists were published in full. Now they are so tremendous that they can be printed only in abridged form, the local names appearing. Every day the Berlin Tageblatt prints a list of the well-known dead architects, doctors, lawyers, professors, teachers, members of the atistocracy, government officials in every walk of life; and the list is staggering. On a single day a well known bank announced the deaths of twenty-three employes. The Ninety-first infantry Regiment reported the loss of no less than twelve officers killed and sixteen wounded, together with 254 men killed, 1,202 wounded, and 114 missing in seventeen days' fighting in Belgium and France. Other regiments have suffered worse, in shorter time; but as the casualty list are published a month after the period covered, the worst is yet to come. A private letter from Munich tells not only of the growing anxiety of the public over the long delay in ending the battle of the Aisne, which Major Moraht the military critic of the Tageblatt, has admitted but speaks of the innumerable hospitals spring ing up everywhere like mushrooms, and overcrowded the instant they are opened. How long can a nation like Germany endure this?"

DEATH OF LORD ROBERTS.

The unexpected death of Field Marshal Roberts in France on Saturday sent a wave of sorrow over the British Empire. While the deceased was an octogenarian and burdened with years, his martial spirit was by no means subdued and he was as much interested in tactics as in the days of the mutinies among the East Indians and the Boer outbreak a few years ago. His mission in France was in an advisory capacity, his days of actual service being about at an end. His death, however, at this crisis in the British Kingdom has sent a chill over the land he loved nad for which he had given his best days.

Probably not since the death of Horatio Nelson has the British people experienced so great a sorrow. After the battle of Cape Trafalgar the English people were held in suspense while awaiting the news of the outcome of that great naval conflict. There were no telegraphs, telephones or wireless in those days, and it took time to circulate news. It was finally known that Brittania had won a great victory, but the message added the terrible words—"And Nelson has been killed." Synchronous with the news of the death of Lord Roberts the great British strategist came the news that the allies had repulsed all the German assaults and driven the enemy across the Yser.

When the Duke of Wellington paid the debt of nature England was not fighting for her life, as she is at present. But at this critical time, when Lord Robert's experience would have been invaluable to his warring countryman he has been summoned by the last bugle call.

CZAR'S ADVANCE UNOPPOSED.

Austrians Withdraw in Central Galia and May Not Defend Cracow

Petrograd, Nov. 16—With the continued withdrawal of the Austrians from central Galicia, the Russian advance is developing with continued success.

It is declared here today that there is a general exodus from Cracow, and judging from the lack of resistance shown the forces advancing upon it, it is believed the Austrians may have decided not to defend this city.

An official statement declares the Mazurian lake region, in east Prussia, has been all but cleared of the enemy. The advance along the line toward Koenigsberg has reached Angrsburg, 35 miles inside the east Prussian frontier.

Fighting is in progress in the Soldau region. In the movement upon Thorn fighting continues between Plock and the River Warthe. The Germans are said to have withdrawn from the vicinity of Kalisz.

NEWS OF THE DAY

S. A. Craig at the Tyler ranch near Wakeeney, Kans., retired for the night in a granary. He was awakened with a queer sensation that something was wrong. The familiar buzz of the rattlesnake told him the trouble. Knowing the danger of moving, he remained perfectly still, and the snake crawled along the floor and over his feet, turning and crawling over his breast. As soon as the reptile was off his body Craig hunted the reptile and killed it. It measured more than five feet and had fifteen rattles.

A bomb, somewhat similar in construction to the one that wrecked the entrance to the Bronx County Court House, New York, Wednesday night, was found Saturday in the Tombs courtroom just under the district attorney's office, occupied by Governor-Elect Whitman. The room was crowded. The bomb contained gunpowder, slugs and bullets. Its fuse was partly burned.

The Supreme Court of Georgia yesterday refused a new trial to Leo M. Frank, convicted here on August 25, 1913, for the murder of Mary Phagan. Frank's motion for a rehearing was based on the ground that his constitutional rights had been violated by reason of his absence from the courtroom when the jury returned its verdict.

BASE BALL OF FORMER DAYS

Interesting Story of Game's Start in Alexandria.

(By Sylvester A. Breen,)

Having been requested to write of former baseball teams in Alexandria since the National Game won favor here, I will endeavor to relate briefly a few facts that may prove interesting to many of the Alexandria Gazette readers.

It was about the Centennial year, in 1876 that the baseball craze struck this city although the game was played before that time, but was crowned then.

The Episcopal High School in the county, was the first successful team to win laurels on the baseball field, hereabouts and they met and defeated the best teams in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, and were the champions until they tackled the Independent Baseball Club, of Alexandria, when the local boys after a great and exciting contest relieved them of the title which the Collegians had held for several years.

Great interest was taken in the games between the Independents and the Episcopal High School teams and hundreds of the fans of the town would visit the college when they played. Leading professional and business men would make the trip to the High School grounds by horseback, carriages, and other easy means of travel but the majority of the men and boys would ride "Shanks' Mare" by taking the King Street Road out to the "Chinkapin Hollow" then descending therein and climbing the steep hill on the other side of the Hollow would make a short cut to the place where they could root to their hearts content. It was a custom at that time for the students to wear a neat round low cap with polished leather brim and the letters "E. H. S. "on front of same.

Everybody was treated courteously by the professors and Collegians, and many were guests at dinner after the games.

To win the championship from the college lads it was necessary to play two games—the first being forfeited.

On the day of the first game the regular catcher of the Independents was unable to catch and the manager had to secure a receiver from Washington to fill his place. During the progress of the contest it was noticed that some funny work was being done by the catcher. Capt. J. Mariott Hill immediately made a protest to the captain of the rival team, and as it was impossible to continue under peaceful conditions the game was forfeited to the E. H. S. team 9 to 0, with the understanding that another game would be played at a later date for the championship.

In the second game with the Episcopal High School team the Independents went after the students from the call of play ball and won in great fashon. Charley Steiner was pitcher on the above occasion and as he was the first man in Alexandria to pitch an overhand or hard-thrown curve ball, and had terrific speed to aid his delivery, and with Norman Pruitt behind the bat, it is no wonder the Independents were victorious.

The following is the line up of the Independent Baseball Club:

Norman Pruitt, catcher; Charley Steiner, pitcher; Capt. J. Marriott Hill, shortstop; John Mulen, first base; John Bartlett, second base; Charley Mankin, third base; Billy Murtaugh, right field; Harrison Price center field; Thomas D. Downey, left field; George Hough pinch hitter and all-around player, and Feley Steiner, substitute.

The Independent before disbanding played in Richmond and other cities, and the members thereafter joined other teams.

Several other baseball teams that existed about the same time as the Independents were the Monticellos and Osceolas who had on their rosters many brilliant and fast players—some now living and among our most prominent business men and citizens.

Charley Adams Alexandria Baseball Club.

The Alexandria Baseball Crub, with Charley Adams as manager, was without a doubt, the best baseball team that ever represented this city and had in its membership men who loved the baseball game, and knew the fine points and how to use them to advantage against opponents.

The way Charley Adams arranged games with strong traveling teams and always furnished the best on the road for his Aexandria patrons is no secret. Visiting teams received a guarantee of sixty dollars and some were paid over one hundred dollars and meals furnished too at times. When his team visited places to contest or baseball honors a large crowd would always greet them—for the fans knew that a treat was in store for them and that the Alexandria Baseball team were on the field to play ball for honors and would not quit.

The names of the following named players is the key to the success of the home team at that time:

Catchers—Andrew Jackson Beach, a man who never used a mitt or glove, always caught with his bare hands, and at times would have his receivers split open and bleeding, but would never quit.Was also fast and good batter. Died some years since. Thomas Kinslow, Jack McKauliff, and Douglas Allison, also caught at different periods.

Pitchers—Benjamin Dilly Underwood, one of the best twirlers who ever represented this city in the big league, and idol of the local fans. Eddie "Bert" Marye, a good pitcher, batter and baserunner. Teddy Ryan, a wizard with the ball and fair in a general way. Robert Barr, a giant in size, one of the best pitchers in the Nationals of Washington, after playing here, and a man admired by all both as a player and gentleman. Dutch McKee .

Short Stops—Robert Cook, J. Cooke Brodus, and Harry Warfield, three speed kings and heavy hitting batters.

First Base— Frank Lambert, one of the best first sackers and batters who ever played here, and admired for his gentlemanly traits, and a star all around athlete—John Mullan, "Velvet" Gibson, and "Star" Smithson.

Second base—Jacob Brill, a man who was at home at all times on his base and ready to tag a runner, also excellent batter. Stephen Taylor, the king of line drivers, always played well, and noted for the fly ball sent over Castle Thunder—the ball was never recovered.

Third Base— Robert Wentzel, the peer of the "hot corner" who could stop any ball hit in his territory, and was the "Rock of Gibraltar" for the team.

Centerfield— Robert "Dick" Cox, a marvel of speed and one of the best judges of a line drive, grasshopper, and fly ball in the world, in his day, barring none, also a sure and heavy hitter, and a lightning base runner.

Right field— Charlie Adams, manager, also a rattling good fielder and batter. John H. Bartlett, a rapid chaser of fly balls expert thrower, and good batter.

Left field—Charley Swaine, known as "Old Reliable," a sure fielder, good batter, and run getter, always on the job and popular with the fans.

Some of the members of the teams mentioned above reside in Alexandria others have moved to other cities, and many have crossed the Great Divide from whence none return, but their records as baseball players will long be remembered by their friends.

Note—Another article on Baseball will be published soon, which will relate to clubs and players in recent years.

Don't Let a Cold Settle on Your Lungs

Many cases of Lung Trouble can be traced directly to a severe cold which has been neglected, and which, as a result, has affected the lungs. If you have a persistent cough or cold, take warning before it is too late. Eckman's Alterative is most beneficial in such cases and has been the means of completely restoring to health many persons who had serious lung trouble. Read of this case:—

Pleasantville, N. J.

"Gentlemen: During the winter of 1911 I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. The doctor pronounced it lung trouble. I tried nearly every preparation without any result and kept getting worse. Eckman's Alterative was recommended to me and I commenced using it as a last resort. The first bottle seemed to give no relief; in fact, I seemed to feel worse, but I kept on using the medicine and found out the first bottle had really started me on the road to recovery by loosening the mucus and making me expectorate freely. After using the medicine for some time my cough ceased, I gained flesh and today I am a well man."

(Signed) GEO. M. BATES.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence For sale by all leading druggists

We strongly urge our customers to take in their winter's supply of fuel early.

Coal mined in the summer and early fall months is generally more carefully prepared and the supply is more certain at this time than it might be later this year.
